UPDATE: Boil Water Advisory Issued

The City of Russell issued a boil water advisory per KDHE requirements due to an incident that occurred at the Water Production Plant the morning of Thursday, December 5, 2024. City staff have worked diligently to notify the community and have followed all KDHE notification requirements for the issuance of the boil water advisory.

As of today, Friday, December 6, 2024, staff have been working to complete all additional testing requirements. Test results from today's samples will be read at the KDHE office on Saturday, December 7, 2024. Based on the results, KDHE will either rescind or extend the order. Staff will notify the public utilizing local news media, notify me (Emergency Alert) notification, social media, and through the City's website. All repairs have been made at the Water Production Plant. Water production capabilities have not been impacted.

We encourage community members to sign up to receive text and/or email alerts for important updates from the City at <https://www.russellcity.org/list.aspx>. There are multiple types of alerts to choose from to allow community members to be updated on items and happenings of most interest. City staff are ready and available to assist any community member needing assistance signing up, please visit City Hall, call, or visit the weblink to learn more.

As always, we welcome questions and appreciate your patience and understanding. Please visit us at City Hall – 133 W. 8th Street, or call (785)-483-6311.
